AVERAGE VOTER MUST BE COAXED ON ELECTION DAY

Philosophical Observations Occasioned By Requests For Two New Polling Places

NEW ELECTION LAW PROPOSED

The proletariat, "men in blouses," "bourgeosie" or whatever you may care to style the average Clearfield county voter, is becoming a frail, weak sister, (if we may be allowed to use the term) and while he may declaim for 364 of the 365 days of the year about his inalienable right of suffrage and what he proposes to do, thereby or therewith, on the 365th or election day, when it comes to casting that vote, he is as shy and diffident as the newest debutante about to make her bow to "polite snesiety."

Time was, and the day is not far distant at that, when the average Clearfield county voter on election day would travel miles thru mud up to the top of his bootstraps for the privilege of casting his ballot for his favorite candidate and particular party policy. Not so now, All that is changed hereabouts and the chief concern of party managers and candidates on election day is to get the voter to vote.

The proletarian demands automobile transportation—even a horse and buggy is too slow—from his house to the polls and back again, and in many cases refuses to budge from beneath his own vine and fig tree on election day unless such first-class accommodations are provided. He will walk thru mud and storm from home to town any other day, but not on election day. No, sirree! I am the great American voter on that day—a king in my own right and every King is justly or by "divine right" entitled to servitors and service.

This condition is not confined to the rural sections alone but is universal and the lazy, persnickity voter is just as common in the towns and cities, where even less effort is required and conditions are much better for traveling.

We are getting a very long moral out of our system to adorn a small tale of two rural districts in Clearfield county. The people of Girard township, with a total of 250 votes have petitioned the Clearfield county court for a re-location of their voting place and in order to make it easy for all hands to get to the polls ask that an additional election house and district be provided, the one to be located at Surveyor, the metropolis of the township and the other at either Bald Hill of Leconte's Mills.

The electors of the Boardman precinct of Knox township are just as careful of their persons and as desirous of limiting personal effort on election day to the minimum and they too have asked the court to cut their district of about 200 voters in two and thus bring the election that much nearer the voter's backyard up that way.

Some fellows we know right here in Clearfield are advocating a law which will require the Judge of Election to strap the ballot box on his back and proceed from house to house in his baliwick and pursue the modest and retiring voter even unto the sanctity of his bath tub, in order to separate him from his vote. If this law gets by and Delaware passe, that woman's suffrage ratification measure we are going to run for Judge of Election at that.

NOT ALL GOING BACK

The city newspapers are making note of the large number of foreigners leaving the good old U. S. A. every day nowadays. Clearfield county aliens do not seem to be contributing very largely to the complained of total, that is if one were to judge from the nationalization records in Prothonotary Ralston's office. During the first two months and a half of 1920, or up to March 15th last, there were a total of 127 petitions for nationalization filed. Of this number 69 were granted the rights of citizenship, having been world war veterans of Uncle Sam's army. During the entire year of 1919, but 250 petitions for nationalization were filed in the Clearfield county courts.

APPARENT DEFEAT OF SUFFRAGE MAY BRING VICTORY

DOVER, Del., March 26—Suffrage won two distinct victories today with the result that the Delaware legislature adjourned over the week end with the prospect of ratification more favorable than at any time since the opening of the special session last Monday.

Republicans, at last awoke to some consideration for party politics, agreed to stand solidly behind the majority leader, Representative Lyons, in a program to report the suffrage resolution into the House on Tuesday. This enabled Lyons, who is leading the suffrage fight, in the lower house, to block an effort by Representative "Bull" McNabb, the Democratic anti-leader, to force the suffrage bill to defeat today by a majority action of house members. McNabb abandoned his position speedily when he found that Republicans whom he relied upon for support had, for the time being at least quit playing with the Democrats and hurried back to the shelter of their party organization.

Had NcNabb been able to bring a vote on the suffrage issue today it would have been defeated. The delay until Tuesday indicates a possible vote on Wednesday but not before that time. That gives five days of grace to the suffrage leader, during which period many shifts in the line will unquestionably be in their favor. What is more, the attitude of the Republicans, even among those who will probably vote "no" showed a party unanimity in the decision to give the women's vote a chance to win.

There was a second favorably development in the senate. The judiciary committee, which had the suffrage resolution of Senator Walker, its chairman, under consideration, voted to report it "on its merits" by a vote of 4 to 1. Unless unlooked for obstacles rise pu over the week end, the senate will probably pass the Walker resolution Monday by a vote of 9 to 8.

Women Leaders of Nation, in Conference Indorse Interchurch World Movement Aims

1. Mrs. Woodrow Wilson. 2. Mme. Grouitch. 3. Mrs. Josephus Daniels. 4. Mrs. Robert Lansing.

Efficiency Plank in New Religious Program for America and Her Missions Meets Enthusiastic Approval Throughout Three-day Convention at Washington

The tremendous appeal made to the women of America by war stricken children and by children in need the world over was illustrated recently at a conference of church women assembled at Washington.

That there would be much more attention to and adequate legislation concerning the problems of children has long been prophesied as a result of granting suffrage to women. The emphasis placed upon the needs of the little folks all over the world by these representative women, who came to Washington from every part of the United States, called together by the Interchurch World Movement, bore witness to the fact that American women are first of all maternal

The power of women to mold public sentiment and, once started, to push through the matters closest to their consciences cannot be overestimated in these reconstruction days. In matters at home and overseas what the women of this country decide must be done will be done not by their efforts alone, but by the combined efforts of their fathers, husbands, brothers and sons.

Mrs. Wilson Presides.

Answering the call to gather in Washington, arrangements for the conference having been made by a committee of which Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is chairman, the women assembled represented all the Protestant churches now co-operating in the Interchurch Movement. Among the notable members in the sessions were Mrs Robert Lansing, Mrs Josephus Daniels, Mrs David Houston, Mrs. Franklin K. Lane, Mrs A S. Burleson, Mrs. A Mitchell Palmer, Mme Grouitch of Serbia, Mme Pauaretoff of Bulgaria and Mme. Marc Peter of Switzerland In all there were 302 delegates present, representing twenty one denominations

Throughout the sessions of the conference, which extended over three days, the enthusiastic approval of the aims of the Interchurch organization was continually evident. The fact that by co-ordination much more efficiency in working methods for all churches could be obtained made a very definite appeal Putting churches on a more businesslike basis might be thought an odd platform upon which to unite women of the various denominations, but the day is gone when business methods and efficiency have no charm for the feminine sex. Due to the efficiency plank in the Interchurch was form, first of all, the organization was indorsed and recommended to the church women of America.

Big Budget for Babies.

A big budget for babies was the first recommendation to the women of the mission boards of the churches. This applied especially to the children in the war-stricken countries, but as well to children in need all over the globe. Women were also asked to support the Industrial Department of the Interchurch World Movement and the program of organized motherhood for the children of the world. Church women in the various cities of the country were urged to assist in obtaining co-operation with industrial, civic and legislative child welfare. They were called upon to remember that the constant attention of every woman citizen is imperative for the protection of children

The appeal of the children of our own land and those millions of others throughout the world left orphaned because of war, pestilence or famine comes with double force to the followers of Him who said, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these ye have done it unto Me." And the women of America, in indorsing the program of the Interchurch organization, have put their mother hearts behind the movement and added the power of their intelligent co-operation.

Kirk, after completion of the investigation into the death of eleven year old Frances South, whose body was found in Adena near here. Meanwhile posses were hunting for the murderer. Evidence was produced to show that the child made a terrible struggle for her life. Many foot prints were found in the ground and would indicate that she was assaulted by more than one man. A heel print was found on her forehead. The blow was believed to have fractured her skull. Feeling against the four negroes held in jail as suspects is still running high.

LEWIS OPTIWISTIC ON CHANCES FOR EARLY SETTLEMENT

NEW YORK, March 27—John L. Lewis, International President of the United Mine Workers of America who arrived here today to attend the bituminous operators and miners joint scale committee meeting Monday said today he looked for a satisfactory settlement without the necessity of the workers having to quit work. Lewis will direct the miners' efforts to obtain a wage settlement. He will also give some attention to the anthracite conference in session here since March 8. The operators and miners of the anthracite region met today. The operators continued to submit data in rebuttal of the miners' contentions that their pay has not increased sufficiently to meet the high cost of libing and that their pay is far below that of the bituminous workers. After two hours' session the committee adjourned until noon Tuesday.

The operetta given by the pupils of the Junior High School at the High School Auditorium last evening, greatly delighted the huge audience which jammed every inch of space available. The operetta represented one day in the life of a flower garden. There were 80 pupils in the cast, while the accompanying chorus of 50 voices added their full measure to the pleasure and success of the entertainment.

The proceeds were for the benefit of the Junior High Library Fund and a handsome sum was realized.

HEAD OF HARD COAL MINERS AGAINST REDUCING CLAIMS

NEW YORK, March 27— Mine operators of the anthracite coal field today declared in a conference with mine union representatives that the mine workers' demands for a 60 per cent wage increase were exorbitant. The operators answer with the statement of steady work all the year round in the anthracite field to equalize the difference. Phillip Murray, International Vice President of the mine workers said today that the miners have not and will not modify any one of their demands.

Two columns of news of general interest to members of the American Legion will be a featre once a week in The Progress beginning today.

The Progress has for publication a series of articles on Americanization by General Leonard Wood which have been bought on their merits as contributions to a much needed cause. There is no political significance attached to the publication of the articles. They speak for themselves. Neither are these articles a part of the Wood campaign literature. They were written months ago and are being syndicated by a publishing house.

"Seeth a man diligent in his own business he shall stand before kings," is an old proverb which certainly applies to the average man or woman who visits a newspaper office in quest of publicity. The Progress desires to help every worthy cause, to assist in any laudabe undertaking and to give of its space free of charge to any affair not run for profit or gain. We solicit the privilege of helping. We cannot however give over the whole paper or any special page. Neither can we promise preferred position.

"Please put it on the front page" is a request we hear from everybody seeking publicity for their particular organization or cause. Should we put all of these notices and writeups on the front page we know these very people would refuse to buy the paper. Please consider our position in this matter and be content with the publication of vour notices free. Asking for the front page of a newspaper is like asking the merchant for his show window.

LEST WE FORGET

How much longer are the people of Clearfied County going to defer action on the memorial to the soldiers of the world war? It would seem to be a mistake to let this matter lay on the table any longer. Over a year has elapsed since the boys came trudging home, one by one, some sick, some maimed, without money and worse than all of these, with that break in the chain of life which necessitated their starting all over again to break into civil life and get on a fair way to successful undertaking of their vocational pursuits. It is true that industrial conditions have been favorable to their gradual resumption of civil life and our business and commercial life has happily absorbed the returning legions in a manner far surpassing our imagination at the time when they were being mustered out and everybody feared that there would not be peace time employmnt for all. The right to earn a living is however an inherent right which has nothing to do with their service in the army or navy. Our efforts to provide comforts for them while they were in training or on the firing line were duties we owed to them and no man or woman by reason of Liberty Bond purchases, Red Cross contributions or work has any right to think that they have done their whole duty to the ex-service men. We have heard no one disapprove of the idea of a memorial. The fact that there is no concrete plan in course of projection seems to be more because no person or organization has gotten behind the idea rather than from lack of support of it. It will be a big proposition if it is to be worked out in full justice to the ex-service men and it must be "done up brown" while we are about it.

Who will take the lead? Remember it is one of the things Clearfield ought to do this year of 1920. The longer we put it off the harder it will be to do. We feel that if the proper parties take the lead there will be a large following a liberal support and a resultant success.

Clothes.

Sir Walter Scott tells us in "Ivanhoe," "men wore one thickness of clothes, whether of wool, leather or velvet. The shirt was invented, but for a long time was worn only by the nobility and gentry. Then followed the waistcoats, breeches, and then the trousers. The overcoat, which succeeded the medieval coatcloak, was rare until the seventeenth century. The dates are not known."

Pessimistic.

"It is all over but the shouting," said the politician to his friend the night before election, "and, between you and me, our side won't have to attend to that."—Boston Transcript.

With the Politicians

Mr. McAdoo's continued protestations about having any delegates selected for him may indicate that he trusts father-in-law to keep them in the family.

Ed. Christ is the latest addition to rapidly growing family of men who want to go to the legislature. Mr. Christ has been an active Republican of DuBois for many years, and has repeatedly been urged to ask for office. Now that he has pulled his nerves together he promises to be in the race at the finish.

Administration supporters are quite industriously throwing out bait these days to the few remaining Democrats who have not been favored with administration preference in offices. No less than twenty-five have been urged to accept the honor of the congressional nomination but the empty honor with the impossibility of election in the fall is dropping on deaf ears.

The new census figures will change our system of auditing the financial accounts of the county. There will be no county auditors under the new system. In their stead will be an official named the County Comptroller The new system is most desirable. Under the present system the county auditors do not meet until after all the business of the year has been transacted and they simply audit the accounts and affix their approval. Often there are business transactions which while within the law are subject to considerable dispute and criticism. Under a County Comptroller this official will be always on the job to pass on these propositions previous to their consummation rather than after the job is done. The County Comptroller should be a business man with sufficient business experience to act as judge in all matters pertaining to the business affairs of the county and it appears that a knowledge of the legal rights and duties of officials is essential. It has already been suggested in many quarters that L. C. Norris, present clerk of the board of commissioners by reason of his long experience in county affairs, would be a strong contender for the place and his friends are urging him to consider being the first candidate for the job. It has not been decided when the new office will be created but it will likely be within the next year.

A new chapeau is to be shied into the political ring within the next few days and it promises to make life a little more interesting for those who follow the kinks of the game. This chapeau will belong to George W. Minns of DuBois, who aspires to be our congressman from this district and who believes that he has a good chance of rooting out the present incumbent, Evan J. Jones, of Bradford. Mr. Minns is one of the substantial business men of DuBois who is interested in a number of lines of business, while it is generally understood that Mr. Minns will make a bid for the labor vote and his campaign managers assert that he will not run as a wet candidate. M. M. Skinner of DuBois, a well known politician of the third class city was in Clearfield yesterday in the interest of the candidacy of Mr. Minns.

The boom of A. Mitchell Palmer is strong with the Democratic organization in this state. In view of his seventeen cent sugar plan he should be strong in Louisana.

Joe Phillips always has stood in a class by himself. He has been damned, praised and damned again so much that both run off his back like water off a duck. Joe's candidacy has called forth a beautiful tribute in the editorial columns of the DuBois Courier and Joe is about the only aspirant for any office who has been able to get editorial endorsement from any quarter thus far this year. Joe's friends are legion and it has been proven in the past that nobody can do him any more harm by telling either lies or truth about him.

Billy Brennan, of Pittsburgh, that angel of purity quoted in The Clearfield Republican as flying to the defense of Mitch Palmer when that worthy was assailed by Judge Bonniwell at a "wet" meeting in Pittsburgh Sunday last, is the chief liquor attorney of Pittsburgh, and one of the apostles of righteousness now enlisted under the Palmer banner by one of those mysterious political mechinations known only to "practical men." He is the same Billy Brennan Palmer and his forces so strenously fought as a bi-partisan trickster and trader in 1912, and the same Billy Brennan, who as a delegate to the National Convention at Baltimore that year, bound by the iron-clad instructions of the Democratic State Convention to vote for Mr. Wilson so long as his name was before the convention, refused to do so on a single one of the 43 ballots taken before Woodrow was finally nominated. Politics and Pennsylvania Democrats are sure peculiar birds.

Voting at the May primary is going to be as big a job as casting a ballot at the November election this year, according to the way people at the state capitol figure it out and if it should happen that women would obtain the vote in time for the primary, the work of election boards will be doubled.

To begin with the voter at the primary will not have a chance to vote for a whole list of Presidential electors by making one mark such as he will at the November election. Instead he will have to mark, and this applies to Republicans and Democrats alike, twelve candidates for delegates at large, and twelve alternates at large. Then there will be two district delegates and two alternates. So much for the political end of the ticket. Then come the state, congressional and legislative tickets with the judicial nominations on a separate ballot.

No one can tell how many candidates there will be for the various offices, but it is apparent that it will take twenty-eight marks just to get the delegate question settled, if a voter intends to do his duty. The rest of the ticket depends upon the district. The state will have four Congressmen at large and candidates for auditor general and state treasurer, a total of six to nominate, which runs the total up to thirty-four. Then come district nominations and the judicial ticket.

One of the rather remarkable features of the spring enrollment in the boroughs and townships is the number of Democrats flopping to the Republican side, even in the face of the strenuous primary campaign that is looming up in the turbulent Pennsylvania Democracy. The Democratic counties of Monroe, Pike, Greene, Columbia and Clarion have all reported increases in Republican enrollment in various districts and declines among Democrats. Schuylkill and Luzerne have also noted the trend.

Councilman R. H. Lucas, of the Fourth Ward, of Clearfield, has decided to enter the lists for legislative honors and filed his nomination papers as a candidate on the Democratic ticket with the Secretary of the Commonwealth this week. Mr. Lucas is a N. Y. C. railroad conductor and will have the spuport of labor.

Dallas D. Guppy, of Clearfield, will contest with Don Gingery for the Clearfield county place on the Democratic state committee. Mr. Gingery has served two terms as a member of the State Committee

Representatives of union labor will meet in Clearfield tomorrow for the purpose of organizing a non-partisan political campaign committee, under the auspices of the American Federation of Labor for the purose of participating in the coming primaries.

The "powers that be" in Democratic politics in Clearfield county does not appear to be able to find local Democrats competent enough or "right enough" to fill even the minor offices of Deputy Revenue Collector and the appointing power has to select some one of the many "faithful" from Centre county upon which to hang these plms. Hon. John Keppler, ex-member of the legislature from Centre, is the second Centre county stalwart to be selected as a Deputy Revenue Collector for Clearfield county. He has his headquarters at Osceola.

The Executive Order in effect April 1st, 1917, placing all post offices under Democratic "silly service" requires that all postmasters shall refrain from all political activity. Postmaster Con Allen, of DuBois does not appear to have read such order as DuBois Democrats visiting the county seat this week say the worthy postmaster is the most active out-in-the-open Palmer manipulator in that city.

Meiville Gillett of Smethport, Pa., candidate for delegate to the Republican National Convention and his campaign manager Mr. Rice are Clearfield visitors today. Mr. Gillett is making a strong campaign and is coming stronger every day. He wishes to correct the impression that he is a Harding man. He declares that he will abide by the preference expressed by the voters at the primary.

E. G. Boose, Esq., of DuBois, was a city visitor this week. While here he took occasion to drop into The Progress office to confirm the story that he was out on a Sproul-first-Wood-second platform.

Hot Water Each Morning Puts Roses in Your Cheeks

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of indestructible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, forms toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin clear and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus clearsing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Girls and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphated hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, which the bowel pores do.

Women who desire to enhance the beauty of their complexion should just try this for a week and notice results.

The AMERICAN LEGION

WITH THE POSTS OF THE NATIONAL SERVICE MEN

(Copy for This Department Supplied by National Headquarters of the American Legion)

OFFICE OF THE COMMANDER, AT NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS

Lemuel Bolles, National Adjutant of the American Legion, Conducting a Staff Meeting of Heads of the Different Divisions in the Office of Franklin D'Olier, National Commander, at National Headquarters, Indianapolis.

NO PATRIOTIC organization in the history of the world has had such remarkable growth as the American Legion, and it is going forward with a speed that indicates a membership of 2,000,000 before the end of the present year. The Grand Army of the Republic, founded following the Civil war, reached its peak in 1900, when the roster showed a half million members. With 4,800,000 to draw from, it is predicted that with the present campaign for 100 per cent Americanism, the roster of the American Legion will be above the 2,000,000 mark by 1921.

The Grand Army of the Republic has played an important part in the life of the republic. Once or twice politics threatened its total disruption, particularly in the year preceding the election of Gen John A Logan as commander in chief General Logan succeeded in steadying the boat. The disaffection grew out of reports that men with bad Civil war records were receiving preferment in appointment to political offices.

To Maj Benjamin F. Stephenson of Decatur, Ill, belongs the honor of founding the Grand Army of the Republic. In 1866, the year following the close of the Civil war, Major Stephenson called together a handful of veterans at Decatur and established the first post. Only one charter member of the Grand Army still is living, Capt. R. A Smith of Lake City, Ia.

Major Stephenson, in council with some of his comrades, drafted a secret ritual. It was a wordy, oratorical affair and was revised in later years. The ritual was so pretentious that it was hard to find printers who could set the type, but Major Stephenson finally rounded up Isaac Coltrin and Joseph Prior, printers who served in the Union army and entitled to know the contents of the ritual when they joined the Grand Army.

Twelve men constituted the first post and the hall in which they met still is a hallowed landmark in Decatur The Grand Army at first was a sort of vigilance committee that sought out persons given to disloyal utterances, and soon had them marked for punishment if they did not desist The men of the Grand Army demanded a hundred per cent Americanism just as the American Legion makes it plain that only one flag, Old Glory, will be tolerated in this land of ours On through the years the Grand Army has stood for this same principle of patriotism, but death has been removing its comrades at a rapid rate and the ranks have diminished until now only a few more than 100,000 remain.

The American Legion was born in France, and it was fitting to have it so, for in Flanders fields repose thousands of American soldiers who died that the principles of American freedom might live On February 15, 1919 twenty American officers, who had been assembled in Paris to discuss conditions in the American expeditionary forces, met at the Inter-Allied club and there talked of the formation of an after war organization that would look to the well being of the men of the service both on land and sea.

The decision was made at this conference to start an after the war organization while the men were yet in France Thus they would go back to America with their minds and hearts centered on protecting the principles they had fought for And they came home to find that the great army of men in American training camps were ready, too They had not crossed the sea, but they were willing to go and were equally willing to participate in any movement that meant a bigger, stronger America

The twenty men who met in conference February 15, 1919 in Paris agreed at that time to call a caucus of men representing every branch of war service and the caucus assembled in Paris March 15, continuing for two days. The men who gathered at that eventful meeting did many important things, including the selection of a name for the new patriotic organization They called it the American Legion and unfurled the name as well as the flag of the patriotic history of the United States.

The caucus also named a committee of fifteen to work in the United States and to plan for a national meeting within a year This committee came home and a caucus was arranged for at St Louis, May 8.

The St. Louis meeting was a revelation. There several hundred men who had served their country at home and abroad met and, forgetting both creed and politics, worked to inject the principles of Americanism in one great movement, the American Legion. At this meeting a joint executive committee was formed by men of 34 states with units in the Legion This committee formulated a basis for permanent organization and agreed that a constitutional convention of the Legion would be held in Minneapolis in November. An organization committee of five was appointed to complete plans for the Minneapolis meeting.

This committee was composed of Henry D Lindsley of Texas, Bennett C Clark of Missouri, Franklin D'Olier of Pennsylvania, Dr Richard Derby of New York and Eric Fisher Wood of Pennsylvania Mr. Lindsley was chosen chairman of the committee and because of that service and his subsequent work as chairman of the Minneapolis convention, the title of first commander of the American Legion was conferred on him. Mr. Wood was named the secretary One important step taken at the St. Louis meeting was that of asking the congress of the United States for a charter. This request was intrusted to Luke Lea and Thomas W Miller The measure was introduced in both houses June 27, last year. It passed the house of representatives August 27 and the senate September 5 President Wilson signed the charter September 16, completing the work of granting a charter, the first ever granted to an organization of the nature of the American Legion The legislative committee of the Legion also placed before the congress many other important legislative matters, including bills covering land grants for former service men bills dealing with the question of the deportation of alien slackers and other matters of interest to men of the Legion.

Important steps taken at the St Louis meeting provided for the opening of national headquarters in New York and for the publication of a weekly periodical that would be of interest to former service men. Plans also were made to have three well-known men of the legion visit different parts of the country to further the interests of the new organization. The men chosen were Theodore Roosevelt, Jr, John P. J. Herbert and John W Inzer. These made tours of the country to advance the organization of local posts. When the American Legion met in Minneapolis the membership had passed the 750,000 mark, and it was predicted that the million mark would be reached in a few months There now are more than 8,000 American Legion posts in the United States, Alaska, Cuba and Hawaii.

Franklin D'Olier of Pennsylvania is the new commander of the American Legion He, with other new officers of the Legion have opened headquarters offices of the Legion in Indianapolis. And Indianapolis and Indiana, feeling a joint pride in the honor paid the state by the American Legion, welcomes them. When they came they heard that Indianapolis was preparing to erect a memorial to her fighting sons that will serve not only as a home for the American Legion, but for other patriotic bodies, including the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Spanish-American war.

The farmers and mechanics are expected to follow all the arguments carefully, but not to let them interfere with the duty of first importance—production

DON'T NEGLECT THE LITTLE ONES

A snuffling, sneezing, coughing child certainly is a reflection upon the parents. To permit a child to suffer from a cold is more than negligence; it is cruel A cold that hangs on weakens the system and can easily turn into something serious. Mrs J S. Pitson, 376 E 155 St., Cleveland, Ohio, writes "I can't speak too highly of Foley's Honey and Tar When my little girl has a cold I give her Foley's Honey and Tar and that stops her coughing an a little while." Children like it. It contains no opiates

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

'Squire John A. Dale received a letter from Mrs. George Blair dated Warren, O., yesterday conveying the said intelligence that her husband had met with an accident in one of the steel mills in that city by which his right hand above the wrist was severed. He is in the hospital and is getting along as well as can be expected under the circumstances. "Shorty" has many Curwensville friends will be sorry to learn of this distressing accident which happened to him, and hope that no more serious results will follow.

Mrs. G. N. Clute mother of G. M. Clute of this place died at her home in Elmira, N. Y., on Tuesday, from blood poisoning. She was known here by a good many people, having spent several months of each summer with her son and his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kephart are rejoicing over the advent of a young daughter which arrived at their home on South Side last Sunday.

Mrs. John H. Norris has broken up housekeeping and has gone to Illinois where she expects to make her home with a daughter.

Mrs. John R. Bixler has moved into rooms over the Hastings plumbing shop, the same having been vacated by Mrs. O. C. Livingston.

Last Sabbath a gathering of relatives and friends congregated at the home of Moses C. Norris, on Chestnut Ridge, for the purpose of celebrating that gentlemans 75th birthday anniversary. For his age Mr. Norris is yet a hale and hearty man and can do a reasonably good day's farm work yet.

We notice that a marriage permit has been granted to John Girrell and Wava Young, both of this place, entitling them to enter into the bonds of wedlock.

The Sophomore class of the Curwensville High School entertained the Senior class at a party held in L. O. O. M. hall last evening. The crowd enjoyed excellent music, which was furnished by Maury's orchestra. Delicious refreshments were served and an enjoyable time was had by all.

That new road machine has arrived and yesterday Roadmaster Dale gave it a thorough initiation as to what duties it was expected to perform. It is sure a two-horse machine and a dandy at that.

The pupils of the High school building held a sociay party at the Grange Hall Thursday evening. All enjoyed a good time.

It will be noticed in the real estate transfers that Ray Robinson et al transferred to I. B. Norris a lot in Curwensville for a consideration of $8,250.

WOODLAND

Mr. A. C. Lansberry, of Bigler, spent Friday attending the White Sale and visiting at the homes of her sons, H. O. and Reed Barger.

D. B. Spackman on Wednesday evening shook the dust of Woodland from his feet and hied himself to old Virginia, where he expects to take up his residence.

Easter will be fittingly observed in both our churches by special programs rendered by their respective Sunday Schools. Committees from both churches are now hard at work training for that purpose.

Mrs. W. H. Barger, Mrs. Kirt. Moore, Mrs. Ed. Livergood and daughter Delia, were shopping in Philipsburg on Friday, drawn thither by the Finburg Opening Sale.

The Woodland members of the Clearfield Post, American Legion, are wondering why there has been no meeting of the Legion during the month of March.

Robert had been angry at James for several days and I was surprised to hear him call over to James and invite him to come and ride on his new sled. Later I questioned him as to his forgiveness of James and Robert explained: "Well, Bill told me Jim was going to have a party next week and I didn't want to lose out."—Exchange.

"DOUG'S" LATEST PICTURE SMASHING SUCCESS

Second Independently Produced Production a Thriller with Distinctly New Ideas.

Big things are always looked for when the motion picture fan goes to see Douglas Fairbanks. Everyone knows that his productions will be filled with the inimitable Fairbanks' stunts, but he exceeded everything he ever did in his life in the rattling, clever comedy, "When the Clouds Roll By," which is the feature at the Driggs Theatre. All told this production is a smashing success.

If the production is the sample of what picture stars intend to do when they produce independently, then there is not a single doubt in our minds that independent productions are what the fans want and what the exhibitor in the future will show in his theatres. When "Doug" first decided to produce independently, he started off with "His Majesty, the American," which carried everything before him by storm. That and this production are demonstrative of the fact that because of his recently adopted policy of making fewer and bigger productions each year, the public will reap the benefit. Allied with Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin and D W. Griffith, the United Artists' proposition is deserving of every amusement-lover's heartiest thanks.

Not only has he produced an enormous picture from the standpoint of production, but he has shattered all the "it can't be done" ideas that ever existed. He has taken the theme of superstitions and has turned it inside out and upside down, and has shattered every superstitiously-loved idea that ever existed. The subject itself was a touchy proposition to start with, but the way "Doug" handles it, has made it a most attractive entertainment and one that will long linger with his great following as the cleverest bit of screen work he has accomplished.

Added to the fact that he has developed a wonderful production from his story, he has presented in this picture probably the most elaborate settings that the screen has ever seen. Chief among them is a flood scene, which is almost inconceivable even when you know its being done in motion pictures. There is no doubt in our minds but that he was compelled to construct an entire village, and from the "shots" that appear in the picture, the town must have been two or more miles long. There much of the climatic action takes place, only to find a rainstorm pour down on the town which is followed by the most realistic flood that even the most skeptical fan could conceive.

From start to finish the picture is one that will long be held up as an ideal production. It goes without saying that "Doug" himself does innumerable stunts in his inimitable way which kept every person sitting on the edge of his seat wondering whether he'd get through all the pinches he got himself into.

Meat Cause of Kidney Trouble

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes adelightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR MARCH 28

REVIEW: THE LIFE WORK OF PETER AND JOHN.

SELECTION FOR READING—Rev. 21: 21-22 5

GOLDEN TEXT—Go ye therefore and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world—Matt 28 19, 20.

ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—John 1 42; 21 15-24, I Peter 1 3, I John 1 1-4

PRIMARY TOPIC—Two Stories About Peter (Acts 3 1-16; 12 1-17)

JUNIOR TOPIC—Peter and John Winning Others to Christ (material of last quarter)

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Peter and John Compared and Contrasted

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Contribution of Peter and John to Christian History.

The review of the quarter's lessons can be profitably made to center in the service of Peter and John, or perhaps better, the activity and power of the risen and ascended Christ manifest in the service of Peter and John.

Lesson 1. Peter Preaches at Pentacost (Acts 2).

Peter proves that Jesus Christ arose from the dead, ascended on high and poured forth the Holy Spirit upon the church; the evidence of it was the unusual behavior of the disciples.

Lesson 2. Peter and John Heal a Lame Man (Acts 3).

This remarkable miracle wrought in the name of Jesus Christ proved that though the Jews had crucified him he was now alive and continued his work through the disciples.

Lesson 3. Peter and John Witnessing of the Risen Christ Before the Sanhedrin (Acts 4).

As a result the Sanhedrin took knowledge that they had been with Jesus, that is, his life and work were being reproduced in and through them. Being with Christ will: 1. Give an experimental knowledge of him, so that the life will remind one of Jesus 2. Take away the fear of man. Peter, who a little while ago quailed before a Jewish maid, is undaunted before the august sanhedrin 3. Open a man's lips. Peter said: "We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard." What the heart feels, the mouth must speak out.

Lesson 4. The Risen Christ Vindicating His Church (Acts 1:3 10).

He passed judgment upon Ananias and Sapphira for their hypocritical pretense of generosity. The living Christ knows the intents of the heart; nothing can be concealed from him.

Lesson 5. The Living Christ Saving Men and Women in Samaria (Acts 8:4-25). His sanction of the preaching of the Gospel by Philip in Samaria is shown by the outpouring of the Holy Spirit. Peter and John were sent by the mother church to confirm the work.

Lesson 6. The Living Christ Healing the Sick and Raising the Dead (Acts 9:32-43).

That Christ is alive is proved by the vanquishing of the dreadful malady of palsy and the retenanting of a corpse by the departed soul. Nothing like this had been known since the days of Christ.

Lesson 7. The Risen Christ Revealing Himself to a Gentile (Acts 10).

Peter testifies to Cornelius that Jesus Christ died for sin and is to be the judge of the quick and the dead, and that everyone who believes on him will receive remission of sins.

Lesson 8. Peter Is Delivered From Prison Through the Living Christ Sending His Angel to Open the Doors (Acts 12:1-19).

The church prayed for Peter's deliverance and the prison was opened. All power is given him in heaven and in earth; there is nothing too hard for the living Christ.

Lesson 9. Peter Shows the Resurrected Christ as the Head of the Church (I Peter 2:13; 11-25).

Because Christ is alive, those who are joined to him by faith grow. Because of the contact with him they are able to maintain seemly behavior in the various relations of life

Lesson 10. Christ Is the Revealer of God's Love (I John 4 7 21)

The proof that Christ is alive is the love of God in the hearts of those who have been born again.

Lesson 11. Christ Is Alive Because He Is Walking in the Midst of the Churches (Rev. 1:4-18).

Lesson 12. In heaven, the crucified, risen and glorified Christ will be the center of worship. All glory and honor are ascribed to him because of his marvelous work of redemption.

Americanism

By LEONARD WOOD

Where law ends tyranny begins. — William Pitt: Speech, January 9, 1770.

LAW'S companion is order. There is no tyranny like the tyranny of the mob. Americanism means law, and law means Americanism. Without it there is first chaos and then tyranny, for out of disorder comes that type of government which, while in a way restraining us, destroys liberty under the law. Such a condition is almost the inevitable consequence of departure from the law into the realm of unrule.

Law and Liberty are inseparable. Liberty lovers can be depended upon to see to it that there is not too much law. The people in a republic are the writers of the laws. They can be trusted to secure just that measure of regulation consistent with order and inconsistent with the tyranny of too much restriction of the popular rights.

In America in those places where there have been outbreaks, where the people have taken, as it is called, the law into their own hands, tyranny has shown itself. Happily its rule has been only temporary. The spirit of the mob is despotic. The spirit of the law is democratic.

Americanism means obedience to law. The Fathers of the republic knew this and laid stress upon it They built upon the foundation of law and they built an orderly structure. When the foundation is destroyed the structure falls and it cannot be reared again except upon foundation stones of the kind first used. Law is government and there can be no Abraham Lincoln's government of the people, by the people and for the people unless law enters into it as a constituent.

The flag of the American republic represents law just as truly as it represents liberty, for there can be no liberty without the law. Proper laws safeguard freedom and never menace it. When the enactment of laws goes beyond reason there is the repeal. The people are the judges of the limits of legal restraint. Americans know how much law is needed to give them full liberty and yet save them from license.

The American flag stands for the nation—it ranks everything else in America. All salute it, from private to president.

The flag of a country, however, can represent nothing except what the country is. When we teach respect for our country's colors, we must bear in mind that respect can be instilled only if the institutions for which the flag stands are maintained in the integrity which the Fathers gave to them.

Sage Tea Turns Gray Hair Dark

It's Grandmother's recipe to bring color, lustre and youthfulness to hair when faded, streaked or gray

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your chiefest charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

AVERAGE VOTER MUST BE COAXED ON ELECTION DAY

Philosophical Observations Occasioned By Requests For Two New Polling Places

NEW ELECTION LAW PROPOSED

The proletariat, "men in blouses," "bourgeosie" or whatever you may care to style the average Clearfield county voter, is becoming a frail, weak sister, (if we may be allowed to use the term) and while he may declaim for 364 of the 365 days of the year about his inalienable right of suffrage and what he proposes to do, thereby or therewith, on the 365th or election day, when it comes to casting that vote, he is as shy and diffident as the newest debutante about to make her bow to "polite snesiety."

Time was, and the day is not far distant at that, when the average Clearfield county voter on election day would travel miles thru mud up to the top of his bootstraps for the privilege of casting his ballot for his favorite candidate and particular party policy. Not so now, All that is changed hereabouts and the chief concern of party managers and candidates on election day is to get the voter to vote.

The proletarian demands automobile transportation—even a horse and buggy is too slow—from his house to the polls and back again, and in many cases refuses to budge from beneath his own vine and fig tree on election day unless such first-class accommodations are provided. He will walk thru mud and storm from home to town any other day, but not on election day. No, sirree! I am the great American voter on that day—a king in my own right and every King is justly or by "divine right" entitled to servitors and service.

This condition is not confined to the rural sections alone but is universal and the lazy, persnickity voter is just as common in the towns and cities, where even less effort is required and conditions are much better for traveling.

We are getting a very long moral out of our system to adorn a small tale of two rural districts in Clearfield county. The people of Girard township, with a total of 250 votes have petitioned the Clearfield county court for a re-location of their voting place and in order to make it easy for all hands to get to the polls ask that an additional election house and district be provided, the one to be located at Surveyor, the metropolis of the township and the other at either Bald Hill of Leconte's Mills.

The electors of the Boardman precinct of Knox township are just as careful of their persons and as desirous of limiting personal effort on election day to the minimum and they too have asked the court to cut their district of about 200 voters in two and thus bring the election that much nearer the voter's backyard up that way.

Some fellows we know right here in Clearfield are advocating a law which will require the Judge of Election to strap the ballot box on his back and proceed from house to house in his baliwick and pursue the modest and retiring voter even unto the sanctity of his bath tub, in order to separate him from his vote. If this law gets by and Delaware passe, that woman's suffrage ratification measure we are going to run for Judge of Election at that.

NOT ALL GOING BACK

The city newspapers are making note of the large number of foreigners leaving the good old U. S. A. every day nowadays. Clearfield county aliens do not seem to be contributing very largely to the complained of total, that is if one were to judge from the nationalization records in Prothonotary Ralston's office. During the first two months and a half of 1920, or up to March 15th last, there were a total of 127 petitions for nationalization filed. Of this number 69 were granted the rights of citizenship, having been world war veterans of Uncle Sam's army. During the entire year of 1919, but 250 petitions for nationalization were filed in the Clearfield county courts.

APPARENT DEFEAT OF SUFFRAGE MAY BRING VICTORY

DOVER, Del., March 26—Suffrage won two distinct victories today with the result that the Delaware legislature adjourned over the week end with the prospect of ratification more favorable than at any time since the opening of the special session last Monday.

Republicans, at last awoke to some consideration for party politics, agreed to stand solidly behind the majority leader, Representative Lyons, in a program to report the suffrage resolution into the House on Tuesday. This enabled Lyons, who is leading the suffrage fight, in the lower house, to block an effort by Representative "Bull" McNabb, the Democratic anti-leader, to force the suffrage bill to defeat today by a majority action of house members. McNabb abandoned his position speedily when he found that Republicans whom he relied upon for support had, for the time being at least quit playing with the Democrats and hurried back to the shelter of their party organization.

Had NcNabb been able to bring a vote on the suffrage issue today it would have been defeated. The delay until Tuesday indicates a possible vote on Wednesday but not before that time. That gives five days of grace to the suffrage leader, during which period many shifts in the line will unquestionably be in their favor. What is more, the attitude of the Republicans, even among those who will probably vote "no" showed a party unanimity in the decision to give the women's vote a chance to win.

There was a second favorably development in the senate. The judiciary committee, which had the suffrage resolution of Senator Walker, its chairman, under consideration, voted to report it "on its merits" by a vote of 4 to 1. Unless unlooked for obstacles rise pu over the week end, the senate will probably pass the Walker resolution Monday by a vote of 9 to 8.

Women Leaders of Nation, in Conference Indorse Interchurch World Movement Aims

1. Mrs. Woodrow Wilson. 2. Mme. Grouitch. 3. Mrs. Josephus Daniels. 4. Mrs. Robert Lansing.

Efficiency Plank in New Religious Program for America and Her Missions Meets Enthusiastic Approval Throughout Three-day Convention at Washington

The tremendous appeal made to the women of America by war stricken children and by children in need the world over was illustrated recently at a conference of church women assembled at Washington.

That there would be much more attention to and adequate legislation concerning the problems of children has long been prophesied as a result of granting suffrage to women. The emphasis placed upon the needs of the little folks all over the world by these representative women, who came to Washington from every part of the United States, called together by the Interchurch World Movement, bore witness to the fact that American women are first of all maternal

The power of women to mold public sentiment and, once started, to push through the matters closest to their consciences cannot be overestimated in these reconstruction days. In matters at home and overseas what the women of this country decide must be done will be done not by their efforts alone, but by the combined efforts of their fathers, husbands, brothers and sons.

Mrs. Wilson Presides.

Answering the call to gather in Washington, arrangements for the conference having been made by a committee of which Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is chairman, the women assembled represented all the Protestant churches now co-operating in the Interchurch Movement. Among the notable members in the sessions were Mrs Robert Lansing, Mrs Josephus Daniels, Mrs David Houston, Mrs. Franklin K. Lane, Mrs A S. Burleson, Mrs. A Mitchell Palmer, Mme Grouitch of Serbia, Mme Pauaretoff of Bulgaria and Mme. Marc Peter of Switzerland In all there were 302 delegates present, representing twenty one denominations

Throughout the sessions of the conference, which extended over three days, the enthusiastic approval of the aims of the Interchurch organization was continually evident. The fact that by co-ordination much more efficiency in working methods for all churches could be obtained made a very definite appeal Putting churches on a more businesslike basis might be thought an odd platform upon which to unite women of the various denominations, but the day is gone when business methods and efficiency have no charm for the feminine sex. Due to the efficiency plank in the Interchurch was form, first of all, the organization was indorsed and recommended to the church women of America.

Big Budget for Babies.

A big budget for babies was the first recommendation to the women of the mission boards of the churches. This applied especially to the children in the war-stricken countries, but as well to children in need all over the globe. Women were also asked to support the Industrial Department of the Interchurch World Movement and the program of organized motherhood for the children of the world. Church women in the various cities of the country were urged to assist in obtaining co-operation with industrial, civic and legislative child welfare. They were called upon to remember that the constant attention of every woman citizen is imperative for the protection of children

The appeal of the children of our own land and those millions of others throughout the world left orphaned because of war, pestilence or famine comes with double force to the followers of Him who said, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these ye have done it unto Me." And the women of America, in indorsing the program of the Interchurch organization, have put their mother hearts behind the movement and added the power of their intelligent co-operation.

LEWIS OPTIWISTIC ON CHANCES FOR EARLY SETTLEMENT

NEW YORK, March 27—John L. Lewis, International President of the United Mine Workers of America who arrived here today to attend the bituminous operators and miners joint scale committee meeting Monday said today he looked for a satisfactory settlement without the necessity of the workers having to quit work. Lewis will direct the miners' efforts to obtain a wage settlement. He will also give some attention to the anthracite conference in session here since March 8. The operators and miners of the anthracite region met today. The operators continued to submit data in rebuttal of the miners' contentions that their pay has not increased sufficiently to meet the high cost of libing and that their pay is far below that of the bituminous workers. After two hours' session the committee adjourned until noon Tuesday.

There were 80 pupils in the cast, while the accompanying chorus of 50 voices added their full measure to the pleasure and success of the entertainment.

The proceeds were for the benefit of the Junior High Library Fund and a handsome sum was realized.

HEAD OF HARD COAL MINERS AGAINST REDUCING CLAIMS

NEW YORK, March 27— Mine operators of the anthracite coal field today declared in a conference with mine union representatives that the mine workers' demands for a 60 per cent wage increase were exorbitant. The operators answer with the statement of steady work all the year round in the anthracite field to equalize the difference. Phillip Murray, International Vice President of the mine workers said today that the miners have not and will not modify any one of their demands.

Two columns of news of general interest to members of the American Legion will be a featre once a week in The Progress beginning today.

The Progress has for publication a series of articles on Americanization by General Leonard Wood which have been bought on their merits as contributions to a much needed cause. There is no political significance attached to the publication of the articles. They speak for themselves. Neither are these articles a part of the Wood campaign literature. They were written months ago and are being syndicated by a publishing house.

"Seeth a man diligent in his own business he shall stand before kings," is an old proverb which certainly applies to the average man or woman who visits a newspaper office in quest of publicity. The Progress desires to help every worthy cause, to assist in any laudabe undertaking and to give of its space free of charge to any affair not run for profit or gain. We solicit the privilege of helping. We cannot however give over the whole paper or any special page. Neither can we promise preferred position.

"Please put it on the front page" is a request we hear from everybody seeking publicity for their particular organization or cause. Should we put all of these notices and writeups on the front page we know these very people would refuse to buy the paper. Please consider our position in this matter and be content with the publication of vour notices free. Asking for the front page of a newspaper is like asking the merchant for his show window.

LEST WE FORGET

How much longer are the people of Clearfied County going to defer action on the memorial to the soldiers of the world war? It would seem to be a mistake to let this matter lay on the table any longer. Over a year has elapsed since the boys came trudging home, one by one, some sick, some maimed, without money and worse than all of these, with that break in the chain of life which necessitated their starting all over again to break into civil life and get on a fair way to successful undertaking of their vocational pursuits. It is true that industrial conditions have been favorable to their gradual resumption of civil life and our business and commercial life has happily absorbed the returning legions in a manner far surpassing our imagination at the time when they were being mustered out and everybody feared that there would not be peace time employmnt for all. The right to earn a living is however an inherent right which has nothing to do with their service in the army or navy. Our efforts to provide comforts for them while they were in training or on the firing line were duties we owed to them and no man or woman by reason of Liberty Bond purchases, Red Cross contributions or work has any right to think that they have done their whole duty to the ex-service men. We have heard no one disapprove of the idea of a memorial. The fact that there is no concrete plan in course of projection seems to be more because no person or organization has gotten behind the idea rather than from lack of support of it. It will be a big proposition if it is to be worked out in full justice to the ex-service men and it must be "done up brown" while we are about it.

Who will take the lead? Remember it is one of the things Clearfield ought to do this year of 1920. The longer we put it off the harder it will be to do. We feel that if the proper parties take the lead there will be a large following a liberal support and a resultant success.

Clothes.

Sir Walter Scott tells us in "Ivanhoe," "men wore one thickness of clothes, whether of wool, leather or velvet. The shirt was invented, but for a long time was worn only by the nobility and gentry. Then followed the waistcoats, breeches, and then the trousers. The overcoat, which succeeded the medieval coatcloak, was rare until the seventeenth century. The dates are not known."

Pessimistic.

"It is all over but the shouting," said the politician to his friend the night before election, "and, between you and me, our side won't have to attend to that."—Boston Transcript.

With the Politicians

Mr. McAdoo's continued protestations about having any delegates selected for him may indicate that he trusts father-in-law to keep them in the family.

Ed. Christ is the latest addition to rapidly growing family of men who want to go to the legislature. Mr. Christ has been an active Republican of DuBois for many years, and has repeatedly been urged to ask for office. Now that he has pulled his nerves together he promises to be in the race at the finish.

Administration supporters are quite industriously throwing out bait these days to the few remaining Democrats who have not been favored with administration preference in offices. No less than twenty-five have been urged to accept the honor of the congressional nomination but the empty honor with the impossibility of election in the fall is dropping on deaf ears.

The new census figures will change our system of auditing the financial accounts of the county. There will be no county auditors under the new system. In their stead will be an official named the County Comptroller The new system is most desirable. Under the present system the county auditors do not meet until after all the business of the year has been transacted and they simply audit the accounts and affix their approval. Often there are business transactions which while within the law are subject to considerable dispute and criticism. Under a County Comptroller this official will be always on the job to pass on these propositions previous to their consummation rather than after the job is done. The County Comptroller should be a business man with sufficient business experience to act as judge in all matters pertaining to the business affairs of the county and it appears that a knowledge of the legal rights and duties of officials is essential. It has already been suggested in many quarters that L. C. Norris, present clerk of the board of commissioners by reason of his long experience in county affairs, would be a strong contender for the place and his friends are urging him to consider being the first candidate for the job. It has not been decided when the new office will be created but it will likely be within the next year.

A new chapeau is to be shied into the political ring within the next few days and it promises to make life a little more interesting for those who follow the kinks of the game. This chapeau will belong to George W. Minns of DuBois, who aspires to be our congressman from this district and who believes that he has a good chance of rooting out the present incumbent, Evan J. Jones, of Bradford. Mr. Minns is one of the substantial business men of DuBois who is interested in a number of lines of business, while it is generally understood that Mr. Minns will make a bid for the labor vote and his campaign managers assert that he will not run as a wet candidate. M. M. Skinner of DuBois, a well known politician of the third class city was in Clearfield yesterday in the interest of the candidacy of Mr. Minns.

The boom of A. Mitchell Palmer is strong with the Democratic organization in this state. In view of his seventeen cent sugar plan he should be strong in Louisana.

Joe Phillips always has stood in a class by himself. He has been damned, praised and damned again so much that both run off his back like water off a duck. Joe's candidacy has called forth a beautiful tribute in the editorial columns of the DuBois Courier and Joe is about the only aspirant for any office who has been able to get editorial endorsement from any quarter thus far this year. Joe's friends are legion and it has been proven in the past that nobody can do him any more harm by telling either lies or truth about him.

Billy Brennan, of Pittsburgh, that angel of purity quoted in The Clearfield Republican as flying to the defense of Mitch Palmer when that worthy was assailed by Judge Bonniwell at a "wet" meeting in Pittsburgh Sunday last, is the chief liquor attorney of Pittsburgh, and one of the apostles of righteousness now enlisted under the Palmer banner by one of those mysterious political mechinations known only to "practical men." He is the same Billy Brennan Palmer and his forces so strenously fought as a bi-partisan trickster and trader in 1912, and the same Billy Brennan, who as a delegate to the National Convention at Baltimore that year, bound by the iron-clad instructions of the Democratic State Convention to vote for Mr. Wilson so long as his name was before the convention, refused to do so on a single one of the 43 ballots taken before Woodrow was finally nominated. Politics and Pennsylvania Democrats are sure peculiar birds.

Voting at the May primary is going to be as big a job as casting a ballot at the November election this year, according to the way people at the state capitol figure it out and if it should happen that women would obtain the vote in time for the primary, the work of election boards will be doubled.

To begin with the voter at the primary will not have a chance to vote for a whole list of Presidential electors by making one mark such as he will at the November election. Instead he will have to mark, and this applies to Republicans and Democrats alike, twelve candidates for delegates at large, and twelve alternates at large. Then there will be two district delegates and two alternates. So much for the political end of the ticket. Then come the state, congressional and legislative tickets with the judicial nominations on a separate ballot.

No one can tell how many candidates there will be for the various offices, but it is apparent that it will take twenty-eight marks just to get the delegate question settled, if a voter intends to do his duty. The rest of the ticket depends upon the district. The state will have four Congressmen at large and candidates for auditor general and state treasurer, a total of six to nominate, which runs the total up to thirty-four. Then come district nominations and the judicial ticket.

One of the rather remarkable features of the spring enrollment in the boroughs and townships is the number of Democrats flopping to the Republican side, even in the face of the strenuous primary campaign that is looming up in the turbulent Pennsylvania Democracy. The Democratic counties of Monroe, Pike, Greene, Columbia and Clarion have all reported increases in Republican enrollment in various districts and declines among Democrats. Schuylkill and Luzerne have also noted the trend.

Councilman R. H. Lucas, of the Fourth Ward, of Clearfield, has decided to enter the lists for legislative honors and filed his nomination papers as a candidate on the Democratic ticket with the Secretary of the Commonwealth this week. Mr. Lucas is a N. Y. C. railroad conductor and will have the spuport of labor.

Dallas D. Guppy, of Clearfield, will contest with Don Gingery for the Clearfield county place on the Democratic state committee. Mr. Gingery has served two terms as a member of the State Committee

Representatives of union labor will meet in Clearfield tomorrow for the purpose of organizing a non-partisan political campaign committee, under the auspices of the American Federation of Labor for the purose of participating in the coming primaries.

The "powers that be" in Democratic politics in Clearfield county does not appear to be able to find local Democrats competent enough or "right enough" to fill even the minor offices of Deputy Revenue Collector and the appointing power has to select some one of the many "faithful" from Centre county upon which to hang these plms. Hon. John Keppler, ex-member of the legislature from Centre, is the second Centre county stalwart to be selected as a Deputy Revenue Collector for Clearfield county. He has his headquarters at Osceola.

The Executive Order in effect April 1st, 1917, placing all post offices under Democratic "silly service" requires that all postmasters shall refrain from all political activity. Postmaster Con Allen, of DuBois does not appear to have read such order as DuBois Democrats visiting the county seat this week say the worthy postmaster is the most active out-in-the-open Palmer manipulator in that city.

Meiville Gillett of Smethport, Pa., candidate for delegate to the Republican National Convention and his campaign manager Mr. Rice are Clearfield visitors today. Mr. Gillett is making a strong campaign and is coming stronger every day. He wishes to correct the impression that he is a Harding man. He declares that he will abide by the preference expressed by the voters at the primary.

Hot Water Each Morning Puts Roses in Your Cheeks

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of indestructible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, forms toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin clear and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of Limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus clearsing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Girls and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphated hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, which the bowel pores do.

Women who desire to enhance the beauty of their complexion should just try this for a week and notice results.

The AMERICAN LEGION

WITH THE POSTS OF THE NATIONAL SERVICE MEN

(Copy for This Department Supplied by National Headquarters of the American Legion)

OFFICE OF THE COMMANDER, AT NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS

Lemuel Bolles, National Adjutant of the American Legion, Conducting a Staff Meeting of Heads of the Different Divisions in the Office of Franklin D'Olier, National Commander, at National Headquarters, Indianapolis.

NO PATRIOTIC organization in the history of the world has had such remarkable growth as the American Legion, and it is going forward with a speed that indicates a membership of 2,000,000 before the end of the present year. The Grand Army of the Republic, founded following the Civil war, reached its peak in 1900, when the roster showed a half million members. With 4,800,000 to draw from, it is predicted that with the present campaign for 100 per cent Americanism, the roster of the American Legion will be above the 2,000,000 mark by 1921.

The Grand Army of the Republic has played an important part in the life of the republic. Once or twice politics threatened its total disruption, particularly in the year preceding the election of Gen John A Logan as commander in chief General Logan succeeded in steadying the boat. The disaffection grew out of reports that men with bad Civil war records were receiving preferment in appointment to political offices.

To Maj Benjamin F. Stephenson of Decatur, Ill, belongs the honor of founding the Grand Army of the Republic. In 1866, the year following the close of the Civil war, Major Stephenson called together a handful of veterans at Decatur and established the first post. Only one charter member of the Grand Army still is living, Capt. R. A Smith of Lake City, Ia.

Major Stephenson, in council with some of his comrades, drafted a secret ritual. It was a wordy, oratorical affair and was revised in later years. The ritual was so pretentious that it was hard to find printers who could set the type, but Major Stephenson finally rounded up Isaac Coltrin and Joseph Prior, printers who served in the Union army and entitled to know the contents of the ritual when they joined the Grand Army.

Twelve men constituted the first post and the hall in which they met still is a hallowed landmark in Decatur The Grand Army at first was a sort of vigilance committee that sought out persons given to disloyal utterances, and soon had them marked for punishment if they did not desist The men of the Grand Army demanded a hundred per cent Americanism just as the American Legion makes it plain that only one flag, Old Glory, will be tolerated in this land of ours On through the years the Grand Army has stood for this same principle of patriotism, but death has been removing its comrades at a rapid rate and the ranks have diminished until now only a few more than 100,000 remain.

The American Legion was born in France, and it was fitting to have it so, for in Flanders fields repose thousands of American soldiers who died that the principles of American freedom might live On February 15, 1919 twenty American officers, who had been assembled in Paris to discuss conditions in the American expeditionary forces, met at the Inter-Allied club and there talked of the formation of an after war organization that would look to the well being of the men of the service both on land and sea.

The decision was made at this conference to start an after the war organization while the men were yet in France Thus they would go back to America with their minds and hearts centered on protecting the principles they had fought for And they came home to find that the great army of men in American training camps were ready, too They had not crossed the sea, but they were willing to go and were equally willing to participate in any movement that meant a bigger, stronger America

The twenty men who met in conference February 15, 1919 in Paris agreed at that time to call a caucus of men representing every branch of war service and the caucus assembled in Paris March 15, continuing for two days.

The men who gathered at that eventful meeting did many important things, including the selection of a name for the new patriotic organization They called it the American Legion and unfurled the name as a flag to be carried down in the patriotic history of the United States.

The caucus also named a committee of fifteen to work in the United States and to plan for a national meeting within a year This committee came home and a caucus was arranged for at St Louis, May 8.

The St. Louis meeting was a revelation. There several hundred men who had served their country at home and abroad met and, forgetting both creed and politics, worked to inject the principles of Americanism in one great movement, the American Legion. At this meeting a joint executive committee was formed by men of 34 states with units in the Legion This committee formulated a basis for permanent organization and agreed that a constitutional convention of the Legion would be held in Minneapolis in November. An organization committee of five was appointed to complete plans for the Minneapolis meeting.

This committee was composed of Henry D Lindsley of Texas, Bennett C Clark of Missouri, Franklin D'Olier of Pennsylvania, Dr Richard Derby of New York and Eric Fisher Wood of Pennsylvania Mr. Lindsley was chosen chairman of the committee and because of that service and his subsequent work as chairman of the Minneapolis convention, the title of first commander of the American Legion was conferred on him. Mr. Wood was named the secretary One important step taken at the St. Louis meeting was that of asking the congress of the United States for a charter. This request was intrusted to Luke Lea and Thomas W Miller The measure was introduced in both houses June 27, last year. It passed the house of representatives August 27 and the senate September 5 President Wilson signed the charter September 16, completing the work of granting a charter, the first ever granted to an organization of the nature of the American Legion The legislative committee of the Legion also placed before the congress many other important legislative matters, including bills covering land grants for former service men bills dealing with the question of the deportation of alien slackers and other matters of interest to men of the Legion.

Important steps taken at the St Louis meeting provided for the opening of national headquarters in New York and for the publication of a weekly periodical that would be of interest to former service men. Plans also were made to have three well-known men of the legion visit different parts of the country to further the interests of the new organization. The men chosen were Theodore Roosevelt, Jr, John P. J. Herbert and John W Inzer. These made tours of the country to advance the organization of local posts. When the American Legion met in Minneapolis the membership had passed the 750,000 mark, and it was predicted that the million mark would be reached in a few months There now are more than 8,000 American Legion posts in the United States, Alaska, Cuba and Hawaii.

Franklin D'Olier of Pennsylvania is the new commander of the American Legion He, with other new officers of the Legion have opened headquarters offices of the Legion in Indianapolis. And Indianapolis and Indiana, feeling a joint pride in the honor paid the state by the American Legion, welcomes them. When they came they heard that Indianapolis was preparing to erect a memorial to her fighting sons that will serve not only as a home for the American Legion, but for other patriotic bodies, including the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Spanish-American war.

The farmers and mechanics are expected to follow all the arguments carefully, but not to let them interfere with the duty of first importance—production

DON'T NEGLECT THE LITTLE ONES

A snuffling, sneezing, coughing child certainly is a reflection upon the parents. To permit a child to suffer from a cold is more than negligence; it is cruel A cold that hangs on weakens the system and can easily turn into something serious. Mrs J S. Pitson, 376 E 155 St., Cleveland, Ohio, writes "I can't speak too highly of Foley's Honey and Tar When my little girl has a cold I give her Foley's Honey and Tar and that stops her coughing an a little while." NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

'Squire John A. Dale received a letter from Mrs. George Blair dated Warren, O., yesterday conveying the said intelligence that her husband had met with an accident in one of the steel mills in that city by which his right hand above the wrist was severed. He is in the hospital and is getting along as well as can be expected under the circumstances. "Shorty" has many Curwensville friends will be sorry to learn of this distressing accident which happened to him, and hope that no more serious results will follow.

Mrs. G. N. Clute mother of G. M. Clute of this place died at her home in Elmira, N. Y., on Tuesday, from blood poisoning. She was known here by a good many people, having spent several months of each summer with her son and his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kephart are rejoicing over the advent of a young daughter which arrived at their home on South Side last Sunday.

Mrs. John H. Norris has broken up housekeeping and has gone to Illinois where she expects to make her home with a daughter.

Mrs. John R. Bixler has moved into rooms over the Hastings plumbing shop, the same having been vacated by Mrs. O. C. Livingston.

Last Sabbath a gathering of relatives and friends congregated at the home of Moses C. Norris, on Chestnut Ridge, for the purpose of celebrating that gentlemans 75th birthday anniversary. For his age Mr. Norris is yet a hale and hearty man and can do a reasonably good day's farm work yet.

We notice that a marriage permit has been granted to John Girrell and Wava Young, both of this place, entitling them to enter into the bonds of wedlock.

The Sophomore class of the Curwensville High School entertained the Senior class at a party held in L. O. O. M. hall last evening. The crowd enjoyed excellent music, which was furnished by Maury's orchestra. Delicious refreshments were served and an enjoyable time was had by all.

That new road machine has arrived and yesterday Roadmaster Dale gave it a thorough initiation as to what duties it was expected to perform. It is sure a two-horse machine and a dandy at that.

The pupils of the High school building held a sociay party at the Grange Hall Thursday evening. All enjoyed a good time.

It will be noticed in the real estate transfers that Ray Robinson et al transferred to I. B. Norris a lot in Curwensville for a consideration of $8,250.

Rev. Connely announces preaching services at the Presbyterian church tomorrow at the usual hour.

WOODLAND

Mr. A. C. Lansberry, of Bigler, spent Friday attending the White Sale and visiting at the homes of her sons, H. O. and Reed Barger.

D. B. Spackman on Wednesday evening shook the dust of Woodland from his feet and hied himself to old Virginia, where he expects to take up his residence.

Easter will be fittingly observed in both our churches by special programs rendered by their respective Sunday Schools. Committees from both churches are now hard at work training for that purpose.

Mrs. W. H. Barger, Mrs. Kirt. Moore, Mrs. Ed. Livergood and daughter Delia, were shopping in Philipsburg on Friday, drawn thither by the Finburg Opening Sale.

The Woodland members of the Clearfield Post, American Legion, are wondering why there has been no meeting of the Legion during the month of March.

John E. Wisor has been confined to his home all week, with throat trouble.

"DOUG'S" LATEST PICTURE SMASHING SUCCESS

Second Independently Produced Production a Thriller with Distinctly New Ideas.

Big things are always looked for when the motion picture fan goes to see Douglas Fairbanks. Everyone knows that his productions will be filled with the inimitable Fairbanks' stunts, but he exceeded everything he ever did in his life in the rattling, clever comedy, "When the Clouds Roll By," which is the feature at the Driggs Theatre. All told this production is a smashing success.

If the production is the sample of what picture stars intend to do when they produce independently, then there is not a single doubt in our minds that independent productions are what the fans want and what the exhibitor in the future will show in his theatres. When "Doug" first decided to produce ildependently, he started off with "His Majesty, the American," which carried everything before him by storm. That and this production are demonstrative of the fact that because of his recently adopted policy of making fewer and bigger productions each year, the public will reap the benefit. Allied with Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin and D W. Griffith, the United Artists' proposition is deserving of every amusement-lover's heartiest thanks.

Not only has he produced an enormous picture from the standpoint of production, but he has shattered all the "it can't be done" ideas that ever existed. He has taken the theme of superstitions and has turned it inside out and upside down, and has shattered every superstitiously-loved idea that ever existed. The subject itself was a touchy proposition to start with, but the way "Doug" handles it. has made it a most attractive entertainment and one that will long linger with his great following as the cleverest bit of screen work he has accomplished.

Added to the fact that he has developed a wonderful production from his story, he has presented in this picture probably the most elaborate settings that the screen has ever seen. Chief among them is a flood scene, which is almost inconceivable even when you know its being done in motion pictures. There is no doubt in our minds but that he was compelled to construct an entire village, and from the "shots" that appear in the picture. the town must have been two or more miles long. There much of the climatic action takes place, only to find a rainstorm pour down on the town which is followed by the most realistic flood that even the most skeptical fan could conceive.

From start to finish the picture is one that will long be held up as an ideal production. It goes without saying that "Doug" himself does innumerable stunts in his inimitable way which kept every person sitting on the edge of his seat wondering whether he'd get through all the pinches he got himself into.

Meat Cause of Kidney Trouble

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes adelightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union)

LESSON FOR MARCH 28

REVIEW: THE LIFE WORK OF PETER AND JOHN.

SELECTION FOR READING—Rev. 21: 21-22 5

GOLDEN TEXT—Go ye therefore and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world—Matt 28 19, 20.

ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—John 1 42; 21 15-24, I Peter 1 3, I John 1 1-4

PRIMARY TOPIC—Two Stories About Peter (Acts 3 1-16; 12 1-17)

JUNIOR TOPIC—Peter and John Winning Others to Christ (material of last quarter)

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Peter and John Compared and Contrasted

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Contribution of Peter and John to Christian History.

The review of the quarter's lessons can be profitably made to center in the service of Peter and John, or perhaps better, the activity and power of the risen and ascended Christ manifest in the service of Peter and John.

Lesson 1. Peter Preaches at Pentacost (Acts 2).

Peter proves that Jesus Christ arose from the dead, ascended on high and poured forth the Holy Spirit upon the church; the evidence of it was the unusual behavior of the disciples.

Lesson 2. Peter and John Heal a Lame Man (Acts 3).

This remarkable miracle wrought in the name of Jesus Christ proved that though the Jews had crucified him he was now alive and continued his work through the disciples.

Lesson 3. Peter and John Witnessing of the Risen Christ Before the Sanhedrin (Acts 4).

As a result the Sanhedrin took knowledge that they had been with Jesus, that is, his life and work were being reproduced in and through them. Being with Christ will: 1. Give an experimental knowledge of him, so that the life will remind one of Jesus 2. Take away the fear of man. Peter, who a little while ago quailed before a Jewish maid, is undaunted before the august sanhedrin 3. Open a man's lips. Peter said: "We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard." What the heart feels, the mouth must speak out.

Lesson 4. The Risen Christ Vindicating His Church (Acts 1:3 10).

He passed judgment upon Ananias and Sapphira for their hypocritical pretense of generosity. The living Christ knows the intents of the heart; nothing can be concealed from him.

Lesson 5. The Living Christ Saving Men and Women in Samaria (Acts 8:4-25). His sanction of the preaching of the Gospel by Philip in Samaria is shown by the outpouring of the Holy Spirit. Peter and John were sent by the mother church to confirm the work.

Lesson 6. The Living Christ Healing the Sick and Raising the Dead (Acts 9:32-43).

That Christ is alive is proved by the vanquishing of the dreadful malady of palsy and the retenanting of a corpse by the departed soul. Nothing like this had been known since the days of Christ.

Lesson 7. The Risen Christ Revealing Himself to a Gentile (Acts 10).

Peter testifies to Cornelius that Jesus Christ died for sin and is to be the judge of the quick and the dead, and that everyone who believes on him will receive remission of sins.

Lesson 8. Peter Is Delivered From Prison Through the Living Christ Sending His Angel to Open the Doors (Acts 12:1-19).

The church prayed for Peter's deliverance and the prison was opened. All power is given him in heaven and in earth; there is nothing too hard for the living Christ.

Lesson 9. Peter Shows the Resurrected Christ as the Head of the Church (I Peter 2:13; 11-25).

Because Christ is alive, those who are joined to him by faith grow. Because of the contact with him they are able to maintain seemly behavior in the various relations of life

Lesson 10. Christ Is the Revealer of God's Love (I John 4 7 21)

The proof that Christ is alive is the love of God in the hearts of those who have been born again.

Lesson 11. Christ Is Alive Because He Is Walking in the Midst of the Churches (Rev. 1:4-18).

Lesson 12. In heaven, the crucified, risen and glorified Christ will be the center of worship. All glory and honor are ascribed to him because of his marvelous work of redemption.

Americanism

By LEONARD WOOD

Where law ends tyranny begins. — William Pitt: Speech, January 9, 1770.

LAW'S companion is order. There is no tyranny like the tyranny of the mob. Americanism means law, and law means Americanism. Without it there is first chaos and then tyranny, for out of disorder comes that type of government which, while in a way restraining us, destroys liberty under the law. Such a condition is almost the inevitable consequence of departure from the law into the realm of unrule.

Law and Liberty are inseparable. Liberty lovers can be depended upon to see to it that there is not too much law. The people in a republic are the writers of the laws. They can be trusted to secure just that measure of regulation consistent with order and inconsistent with the tyranny of too much restriction of the popular rights.

In America in those places where there have been outbreaks, where the people have taken, as it is called, the law into their own hands, tyranny has shown itself. Happily its rule has been only temporary. The spirit of the mob is despotic. The spirit of the law is democratic.

Americanism means obedience to law. The Fathers of the republic knew this and laid stress upon it They built upon the foundation of law and they built an orderly structure. When the foundation is destroyed the structure falls and it cannot be reared again except upon foundation stones of the kind first used. Law is government and there can be no Abraham Lincoln's government of the people, by the people and for the people unless law enters into it as a constituent.

The flag of the American republic represents law just as truly as it represents liberty, for there can be no liberty without the law. Proper laws safeguard freedom and never menace it. When the enactment of laws goes beyond reason there is the repeal. The people are the judges of the limits of legal restraint. Americans know how much law is needed to give them full liberty and yet save them from license.

The American flag stands for the nation—it ranks everything else in America. All salute it, from private to president.

The flag of a country, however, can represent nothing except what the country is. When we teach respect for our country's colors, we must bear in mind that respect can be instilled only if the institutions for which the flag stands are maintained in the integrity which the Fathers gave to them.

Sage Tea Turns Gray Hair Dark

It's Grandmother's recipe to bring color, lustre and youthfulness to hair when faded, streaked or gray

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your chiefest charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.
